MRS. NAPIER IN DENVER

Mrs. J. C. Napier, wife of Hon. J. C. Napier, Ex-Register of the Treasury, is at present in Denver, Colo., where she has gone as a representative at the National Federation of Women's Clubs, which is holding its sessions in the beautiful metropolis of the west. Mrs. Napier is well known from one end of the country to the other, as the prime mover in a number of very popular civic enterprises. She worked ardently and successfully in the movement to make the home of Frederick Douglass a national memorial and has been identified with a number of equally important movements among her people.

At home she has identified herself with every progressive move that has made for the betterment of conditions relating especially to the colored people. Since the war her time has been given freely to war work. Her work in getting registered the many women among her people, who because of misunderstanding or misconception of the privilege extended them, to become an active part of a government who hitherto had not called into action their many qualifications as assets of the nation, was a monument to her ability as an organizer and was put through successfully, mainly because of the indomitable will of a leader who refused to be abashed by mountain high difficulties. In the first and second Liberty loan campaign she worked ardently for the placing of these bonds in the hands of her people and many people who otherwise would not have been sufficiently interested to invest placed their money at the disposal of the government through her efforts. In Red Cross work Mrs. Napier directed and smoothed out the many difficulties that naturally arise in getting tangible evidence of work into operation and her hands completed the first bed shirt made at a local sewing room by the Colored Chapter of the Nashville Red Cross Organization. Aside from these many activities Mrs. Napier works ardently in her church and is identified socially and financially with many smaller interests that are very essential to the development of an all rounded, well prepared people.

RED CROSS

Authorized By The Nashville Chapter Publicity.

LOCAL—TUESDAY'S HORROR.

The Nashville Chapter marked on Tuesday last the first Day's work in Disaster Relief, a regular part of the work of the American Red Cross operated through the Civilian Relief departments. The occasion of the week at Dutchman's Bend, taking a tremendous toll from among the colored workmen on the way to Nashville from Memphis, struck terror to the hearts of all. Mrs. Percy Maddin was on the scene immediately. Mrs. S. S. Crockett and Mrs. Harry Evans called the Emergency Canteen Service to attention at once. Miss Carington and her helpers with the public health nurses put into operation all the machinery at their command to begin preparation for the gruesome task of identification of mangled bodies, the soothing of frantic inquirers.

The Negro Y. M. C. A. was given cots by the Civilian Relief for men not requiring hospital attention, and letters were written and sent to their next of kin; the Civilian Relief handled the needs of the civilian sufferers, the Canteen Committee taking charge of matters pertaining to military connections. The following were addressed in letters bearing a short statement from the men sending the message, and the writing done in an incredibly short time by an emergency worker with Miss Carington for the afternoon: Mary Lambert, Edwards Depot, Miss.

Sadie Davis, Memphis, Tenn. James Ross, Memphis, Tenn. Mattie Griffin, Memphis, Tenn. Walter Turner, Memphis, Tenn. Celia Jones, Memphis, Tenn. Juanita Ward, Lucy, Tenn. Lufie Jones, Memphis, Tenn. Valcina Hall, Memphis, Tenn. Buri Pope, Atlanta, Ga. Patrick Kuykendall, White Haven, Miss.

Fannie Burney, Memphis, Tenn. Aggie Davis, Memphis, Tenn. Rachael Eddie, Hernando, Miss. Emma Morton, Shelby, Miss. Beatrice Mason, Memphis, Tenn. Etta Carney, Pegram Sta., Tenn. John Morton, Memphis, Tenn.

GENERAL—Southern Division A. R. C., Athens, Ga.

An account of the canteen service to troop trains in Athens, the appreciation of the Negro soldiers for services rendered (the official order being given that race distinction must not be allowed in service to American soldiers) includes the following story:

"As the last train pulled out, an old gray-haired man who knew what war meant and what those boys were going to face, approached the girls of the committee and shyly tendered a half dollar. 'Missus,' he said, with a smile like a little child not thoroughly assured that he is exactly right, 'won't you use his here to help the next train load?' He was not a wealthy man."

SPECIAL TO THE GLOBE

Great Sunday School and B. Y. meeting is planned to meet at the First Baptist Church, 8th Ave., Nashville, Tenn., July 17-21, 1918. The slogan is $1,000.00. The Executive Board of the State Sunday School and B. Y. P. U. Convention met with the Macedonian Baptist Church, Jackson, Tenn., Rev. S. B. Burnett, pastor, and staged one of the greatest meetings in the history of the convention.

The Board realized with all of the young men of draft age being called to the colors, and that we are giving our country the very flowers of manhood of the race, to help win the war for a world wide democracy, the principle for which the Baptist stands for; a Government in which the power is vested in all the people. In giving to our country these men, among them are some of the best prepared men of the race, young men of high Christian character. That fifty cents would have provided many small comforts for him; comforts which others would deem necessities, perhaps. Yet inspired by what he saw the 'Red Cross ladies' doing for the boys of his race, and the spirit and dignity and fellowship accompanying the service, he gave what he had, and apologized for not having more to give."

The editor of this column has a theory that the man of that type is not "foolish"; he has lived so close to the "foolish" that he has learned, through all his experiences of war of other days, and since—fundamentals, that he has a spiritual discernment. He knew those women had the right spirit, and the Nashville Publicity quotes him here because of a belief that testimony from his type is reliable; it is of the soul!

District of Columbia Chapter.

The sum of $32.50 realized from a benefit luncheon given by a colored woman whose husband is in military service, has been donated to the Home Service Section of the American Red Cross, according to Mrs. Walter S. Uford, executive secretary of the District of Columbia Home Service Section of the American Red Cross.

"You were good to me when I was sick and I want to do something for the others now that I am able," was the way the woman expressed her desire to help. "After the woman's husband volunteered, the extra work caused a complete breakdown," said Mrs. Uford, "and tuberculosis developed. Treated in the early stages she rapidly improved and determined to help the Red Cross. This is the second contribution that she has given to the Red Cross. She has given $10.00 as proceeds from benefit luncheons that she has conducted. She has also given a contribution for the soldiers' tobacco fund."

Chattanooga Chapter Auxiliary.

The woman who is head of the colored Red Cross work in Chattanooga, Tenn., is an enthusiastic and efficient worker in all war-rent agencies, according to Bishop Lambuth, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Her father, who is a Negro, had donated fifty head of cattle and sheep to the American Red Cross. The proceeds of the sale of the cattle and sheep will be used for the furtherance of work in the state and for the purchase of Red Cross supplies.

"FAST BLACK—WON'T RUN."

The following serious anecdote is told by a Government official just back from France: "To one encampment where there were 5,000 Negroes, Gen. Pershing sent word that he wanted 1,500 men for a particular dangerous feat. So they lined up the 5,000 and asked every man who was willing to volunteer to take one step forward. The whole 5,000 stepped one step forward—and they had to select the 1,500. Then the men shouted the slogan: 'Fast black—won't run!'"

The people of this country ought to doff their hats to Rev. E. W. D. Isaac, the National Secretary of the B. Y. P. U. and Rev. H. A. Boyd, the National Secretary of the Sunday School Congress. These men are giving their lives in trying to raise our young people to a higher standard in Christian activity. They have shown better than they know, for we have young missionaries in all of the camps, who are conducting Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. and reaching men that we know not of. We ought to rejoice over this, and be encouraged to come to the convention with renewed vigor.

We hope that every Baptist Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. in Nashville and throughout the State will represent this year, forgetting the things that are behind us. Let us sorell our forces for education and mission. Every Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. is asked to send $10.00 for Education and Mission. Let there be no slackers.

Nashville is preparing a hundred voices to render music for the occasion, on Sunday there will be a musical contest, all are invited to attend every session.
